

Listing of Claims

1. - 33. (cancelled)

1        34. (new) An apparatus for inhibiting foot eversion, the apparatus comprising 2                a cuff positionable around a leg immediately above an ankle joint 3        so that the ankle joint prevents the cuff from moving downwardly,

4                a first strap with a first end and a second end, the first end
5        connected to the cuff and the second end connectible to footwear at a location 6        on a portion of the footwear at an outer side thereof wherein the cuff is 7        positionable above protruding parts of the ankle thereby preventing the cuff 8        from moving down on the leg below the ankle and wherein the cuff is 9        supported by the protruding parts of the ankle to facilitate inhibition of eversion 10       of the foot,

11               a second strap connected to the cuff and connectible to an inside 12       part of the footwear forward of the heel, and

13               a third strap connected to the cuff and connectible to a front part 14       of the footwear.